ELEGANT AND INVALUABLE Articles for the Toilet.

Bogles Hyperion Fluid.
For Restoring, Preserving, and Embellishing the HAIR,

The following Certificate from Dr. Wendell Lowell, and other eminent Physicians of Boston, will show the estimation in which it is held by the entire profession. It is prepared, having one out of many similar certificates.

Boston, Feb. 25, 1847.

New York Sun.—Sir: The above patent invented by you, I have used for the last year, and have very frequently ordered it for my patients, and have never known it to fail in producing the desired effect. It invigorates and strengthens the hair, and clears the skin of all impurities, without producing any of the minute deleterious effects which are so frequently the result of many well known patented compounds. * * * LINSLOW LEWIS.

It is an indispensable article for the Ladies, as it keeps the hair in place and gives a rich appearance of the hair, free from dandruff and scurf. For children it lays a foundation for a good head of hair.

BOGLE'S AMOIE,
A COMPOUND FOR SHAVING.

The most delightful article for shaving that has appeared to the public, and far superior to anything yet invented for shaving; it has been in use for several years in the city of San Francisco, California, an article held by the natives of that country for washing, in fact, the cleansing of the skin, is unrivalled. Its vegetable skill, so bountiful to the skin, is invaluable. Its vegetable skill, so bountiful to the skin, is invaluable. Its vegetable skill, so bountiful to the skin, is invaluable

Bangor Custom House.

We have been requested by one of our worthy citizens to insert in our columns the following notice calling upon all who are interested in the location of the Custom House in this city to meet at the City Hall on Saturday evening for the purpose of agitating that subject. The people do[illegible] should be [illegible] upon this subject a despatch connection is one of the ways to do [illegible] We have no paper in favor of any one location more than another, and we could like to see a commodious and handsome edifice for a Custom House in the city and almost any spot with such a building would make a handsome appearance and be an ornament to the city. But the consideration of location we prefer to leave to the gentlemen who on Saturday evening are expected there to be present and able

☞ Bishop Hopkins's opinion of a good newspaper is, we may [illegible] the man of views [illegible] close observer of men, and of affairs that are daily and hourly operating to [illegible] society. He says we want to look upon a well conducted newspaper as a great teacher, and for more useful knowledge and varied suggestions there are a great many men of [illegible] who know and appreciate the worth of a newspaper, and of the [illegible] to send [illegible] a newspaper to [illegible] [illegible] chants, mechanics and merchants [illegible] that they are sustained [illegible] most are increasingly willing now to [illegible] It is a fact that active and [illegible] are required [illegible] to newspapers [illegible] there are still [illegible] the [illegible] occasion of one to [illegible] the value of newspapers. They should [illegible] under a general head and a sort [illegible] necessary requisite by the [illegible] the [illegible] to

It should be an object with every conductor of a press to extend the objects he introduces, and so regard his honest and honorable profession as to inspire more and more the confidence of the people by making it useful in advancing all the higher purposes of an advanced civilization.

☞ Palmer's Register makes a few suggestions of [illegible] which to conductors of the various [illegible] that should be taken [illegible] to [illegible] and publish the local news and [illegible] cents in their respective districts. The [illegible] gives the paper an advantage in the local [illegible] It makes the paper more valuable to the people in the vicinity of a publication and vastly more so to those abroad. We [illegible] believe quite often, upon some weekly papers published in Maine without finding a single item of local intelligence by mail a dozen [illegible] more agreeable advertisements than [illegible] usually [illegible] of advertisements. It is not only interesting to [illegible] accounts of shipwrecks [illegible] displayed upon [illegible] published far [illegible] the interior with [illegible] local items about the crops or business [illegible] in any matter in the county [illegible] the paper to publish.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Boston Atlas writes that Senators Davis of Massachusetts and Butler of South Carolina have unhesitatingly declared that if the States will secede and that one of the requisites for retaining their places in the United States Senate is merely to get the resignation by Congress of the right of a State to secede out of the Union, whenever in her wisdom she deems proper.

This course would relieve our Southern brethren from backing out to the weakness of the old confederation. The introduction of such a proposition into the U. S. Senate will create discussion upon a subject which ought to [illegible] have been considered decently settled. These States are one and must remain united forever by every tie. We shall have to refer to Gen. Jackson's Proclamation, to the great speech of Daniel Webster on the [illegible] and to this battle ground again to be gone over.

☞ Our [illegible] friends who [illegible] permanently [illegible] their parents and look up [illegible] the [illegible] of the year, [illegible] the morning after must be informed that Santa Claus has [illegible] his shoes and is brushing up [illegible] and everything ready to fill the large pocket and [illegible] with many pleasant things for the [illegible] approaching holiday. What a [illegible] of wonder days—Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years. We have seen something akin to it in some of the places where Santa Claus [illegible] to gather his heaps of Books and Toys and Fancy [illegible] He never had such a [illegible] before, but he won't show them to us until he gets [illegible] comes.

SHAKESPEARE'S DRAMATIC WORKS.—David Hughes has received from the enterprising publishers Messrs. Fairfax Sampson & Co. of Boston the 29th number of their large and elegant illustrated edition of Shakespeare containing the play of Cymbeline with a portrait of Virginia. The number concludes the fifth volume, and the edition when completed will long be regarded as a standard for the United States.

SILVER MINES IN VERMONT.—A bed of silver and copper ore has been discovered about three miles south east of the village of Brandon, Vt. The ore is incorporated with mild quartz and argillaceous slate. An average specimen analyzed by W. H. Shepard mineralogist gave 3.13 per cent. fine pure silver and 17.60 of copper. The mine is to be worked immediately.

☞ A uniform system of low postage—requiring all letters to be pre paid—seems to find favor in all if we mistake not a majority of the Post Office Committee, at the last session were favorably disposed. The Postmaster General recommends a postage of three cents on pre paid letters and five cents on those unpaid when mailed.

☞ Goodhue, in his new shop in Stetson Block, Main street, is a mechanical genius in his line of business. Besides his regular manufacture of umbrellas, canes and whips, he readily undertakes, with marked success, the construction and repair of musical instruments of every variety, and all sorts of fine jobbing.

The late robbery of the Connecticut River Bank at Charlestown, N. H.

Alanson Ladd, a native of Oxford Maine, was arrested for robbing the Connecticut River Bank at Charlestown N. H. some weeks since was [illegible] about 9 o'clock in the evening, at which time [illegible] took their work was done. He [illegible] about 3 o'clock in the morning and [illegible] hope in the wagon and rode [illegible] Lake Champlain to Charlestown [illegible] Thus far all had worked admirably [illegible] but in the [illegible] their [illegible] that
